

In this technologic world, where the communication seems to becoming easier and easier, it is probably the real human communication the one thing that we miss the most. This is the reason why people feel more and more lonely. In this contest where it's really hard to give a good advise to who just entered this world about the future what it comes to my mind is a phrase from a missionary doctor, which I think could help all of us to find the way again:

*“I don't know what your destiny will be, but the one thing I do know:
the only ones among you who will be really happy are those who will have sought and found how to serve”.*
